

#DECARBONIZE

#DECOLONIZE

As the world prepares for the 2021 UN Climate Change Conference in Glasgow, Scotland, the Centre for Global Education, TakingITGlobal, CC-UNESCO, and a number of strategically chosen partner organizations are co-creating a mobilization that will engage thousands of students from across the globe.

On behalf of the entire #Decarbonize: #Decolonize - Youth Action team, we would like to invite you to be one of our schools, from over 45 countries, that will participate in this global youth collaboration around climate change, climate resilience, and climate justice. This year's project will educate and mobilize young people to ACT as allies in the fight against climate change.

During this project, between September-December, global students interact through a series of online, project-based learning activities, and then share and learn from peers around the world, through zoom live events. The final product of participating #Decarbonize students will be the creation of a report highlighting their opinions (alongside youth from all over the planet) into a common statement of action. This report will be presented by selected global lead students to multistakeholder political, policy, and action leaders at the 2021 United Nations Framework for the Convention on Climate Change COP 26 Conference this November.

Each Global Lead (GL) school will be responsible for:

1. Global Launch (September 29, 2021)

- Schools join the global launch of #Decarbonize: #Decolonize - Youth Action

2. Participation in Focused Collaboration (September - November)

- Opportunity to showcase your school's participation as a global lead in a series of interactive videoconferences between October and November
- Students complete associated collaborative, project-based climate learning activities on a dedicated virtual classroom

3. Synthesis and Presentation of Global Youth Report (November 3-10)

- Students participate in a global writing exercise, producing a joint project report and associated webinar presentation that highlights their thoughts and experiences

Should you choose to accept this invitation, we would be honoured to have you represent your country and the voice of the youth therein. As we move forward as a global community, the opportunity to impact change on a local and global basis, can only be achieved through uniting the voice of young people based on knowledge and a desire for change.
